Editor's Column

On Sunday, this year's Great Sand Castle Contest will be held. This event truly symbolizes the character of Carmel, that ephemeral quality which dedicated Carmelites seek to preserve, outsiders envy and materialists scorn.

In the beginning, the contest was planned as an occasion for Carmelites to enjoy a day on the beach, also express their innate creativity, after the tourist season ended.

Consequently, no fanfare announced the competition but, by word of mouth, the news spread and dozens of persons from other communities came to join in the fun.

Each year since, the sand castle contest has attracted increasingly larger numbers of persons from farther and farther away. Last year, 3,000 persons were on the beach and the grand prize was won by a group of teen-agers from Clovis.

The contest has attracted, too, more and more notice. Other seaside communities are copying Carmel's original idea. This Fall, a magazine which circulates in this country and abroad published an illustrated article on Carmel's Great Sand Castle Contest.

This story ended by inviting all readers to come to Carmel in September bringing families, shovels and imaginations; leaving problems, shoes and stockings behind.

Because of this unsought nationwide publicity, the Society for the Promotion of Fun in Carmel, an organization almost as ephemeral as the city's famed character, postponed the 1965 contest until the time of the right tide in October. Furthermore, it was decided to announce the date of the contest only three days beforehand. The purpose of this action was to reserve the event, as much as possible, to local persons.

However, once again, unwittingly, Carmel, by means of an original concept has attracted unsought national notice. Photographers and writers for national publications may well be roaming the beach on Sunday endeavoring to capture, through their related media, the essence of the character of Carmel.

They may succeed in recording the visible results and atmosphere of the Great Sand Castle Contest and all through the land, what they record will attract attention. Outsiders will envy, mat-

Sand Castle Contest Set For Sunday

Sunday is the day chosen for the 1965 Great Sand Castle Contest on Carmel Beach. The Monterey Bay chapter of the American Institute of Architects will sponsor the event arranged by an informal group which calls itself the Society for the Promotion of Fun in Carmel.

The sand castle contest is the only affair to which the dogs of Carmel are asked to attend on a leash, held by a person, or else stay away. Of course, if some dog is small enough to be carried, it may come to the community party, or if it is so well-trained that it can stay perfectly still and snooze as part of some sand creation, as one did last year, then it will be allowed to participate.

Apart from dogs, there are no restrictions, no rules. Everyone who is old enough, or young enough, to pile sand is invited to compete for 41 surprise prizes of no great monetary value but signifying high honor.

These prizes will be awarded on decisions based on the personal whims of the eight judges selected by Planning Commissioner Fred Keeble. However, Carmel's building code restrictions may be completely ignored. Twenty-story edifices with no landscaping, no setbacks and absolutely incompatible with surrounding structures will be permissible. Even public health and safety regulations will be waived. The character of Carmel will be forgotten, except that part of it which includes fun on the beach.

Imagination will be of prime importance although Don Brown, architect and SPOFIC member who is Carmel's unofficial Mr. Sand Castle Contest—he watches the tides and sets the date—says that size may tend to influence some of the judges. Sheer magnitude may impress them, or depending on their personality whims, a miniscule castle may win a coveted award.

Mr. Keeble will be the chief judge. Other judges will be Marcel Sedletzsky, Will Shaw, John Boit Morse, Robert Nelson, Thomas S. Elston, Steven Sassoon and Arch Garner. Four of these men are architects, one is an artist, one a sculptor, one a structural engineer and one an art instructor.

There will be two categories in which to compete this year—Advanced Sand Box for seniors and Novice Sand Pile for juniors. Sand castles will be judged by areas with two judges exercising their whimsey in each area . . . and, perhaps, decisions will depend on how tired their legs are from plodding from castle to castle

The Rhyming Philosopher

By Harry W. Fletcher

No. 128

What is all this—this paradox—
Defense of those who seek to end
Religion and the Church. Who mocks
The word of God can be no friend.

Misguided youth—they march and rave
And demonstrate in God's sweet name;
Reviling those who fight to save
Those very freedoms they proclaim.

Has ever liberty been won
By kneeling to oppression's thrust?
No church seeks peace by blade or gun,
But if oppressed then fight we must.

Our very homes, our land, our lives
Depend on those brave lads who fight.
So, blast the traitor who contrives
For less than duty, truth and right.

Planners See Scale Model Of Proposed Civic Center

"This is a beautiful presentation of a magnificent complex and the landscaped roof concept for the corporation yard facility is a vital part of the project," said Planning Commissioner Fred Keeble yesterday afternoon when a scale model of Carmel's proposed civic center on Junipero Street was displayed at city hall for the commission.

Walter Burde of the architectural firm of Burde, Shaw Associates made the presentation of the civic center model which his firm had been authorized to prepare by the city council.

He pointed out that the bulk of the corporation facility had been reduced by stepping the roof down with the lowest of three levels being at the southern end of the structure, thus eliminating what, in the plans, some council members had thought might be a part of the development that was too obtrusive.

Another modification was the landscaped roof of the planned corporation yard facility which Mr. Keeble lauded. This roof will be a planted area incorporated into a central landscaped plaza containing trees. Mr. Keeble also praised the tree concept.

Thirdly, Mr. Burde showed planning commmissioners that the police department facility has been modified into a three-story structure with two stories underground. These basement areas will contain the police department's practice pistol range and storage. Below this will be another basement area for the city's disaster communications center.

Assistant Disaster Director Floyd Adams told the commission that placing the disaster facility two stories below ground was a distinct advantage, especially in consideration of radio-active fallout precautions. Its proximity to the police department, which contains the city's central communications system, was also an advantage, Mr. Adams added.

The scale model was presented in two stages. The first showed only the proposed police department and public works and corporation yard facilities. This was the only part considered by the planning commission yesterday afternoon and was recommended to the city council as acceptable. The police station was shown at the corner of Fourth and Junipero. The public works and corporation yard development extends from this corner along the eastern side of Junipero to the boundary of the city property.

After this area had been considered, Mr. Burde added to the model the city hall facility and

Anniversary For Chief Klaumann

Yesterday was October 20 and on this date in 1950 Chief Clyde Klaumann joined the Carmel police department. Previous to coming to Carmel he had served with the Monterey police force for 14 years and three months.

"Those years in Monterey seem twice as long as the time I have spent in Carmel," Chief Klaumann observed. He added that the 15 years he has directed Carmel's police department have "flown by."

The years have flown by for Carmelites, too, under the protection of a police chief who has not only efficiently protected the city but gained the respect and friendship of young and old residents.

Carmel Resident Appointed To State Commission

On the recommendation of the State Board of Education subcommittee on appointments, Mrs. Richard Lofton of Carmel has been appointed to the State Curriculum Commission, a 12-member advisory body to the board on courses of study and textbook adoption. Mrs. Lofton, a fourth-grade teacher at Monte Vista School in Monterey, will be the only elementary instructor on the commission which includes professional educators from several levels.

The new appointee, wife of artist Richard Lofton, has been a Carmel resident for many years and has been teaching in the area since 1955. She attended Salem College in Winston Salem, North Carolina, where her studies were concentrated on English, drama, Latin and German, and holds a bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina with a major in English and minors in drama and philosophy. Her California teaching credential was granted her after graduate studies at San Jose State and the University of California at Berkeley.

In suggesting Mrs. Lofton's appointment, the subcommittee, headed by board member Raymond J. Daba of Atherton and including Mrs. Talcott Bates of Monterey, called attention to her knowledge of music, a subject soon to be studied by the curriculum commission.

Another honor is being accorded Mrs. Lofton tonight, when she will be initiated into Delta Lambda Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, a national honorary society for women educators.

WRIT ISSUED ON OIL REFINERY

On Tuesday in Salinas Superior Court Judge Gordon Campbell issued an alternative writ of mandate and tentatively scheduled November 24 as the date of a hearing when County Counsel William Stoffers must show, to the court's satisfaction, why the Monterey County Board of Supervisors has not accepted a petition seeking repeal of the Humble Oil and Refinery Company's special permit for a refinery at Moss Landing.

A petition, filed by William B. Burleigh, attorney associated with the Six Cities Fund organization, was the basis for Judge Campbell's action.

This petition asked that, after the hearing, the court direct the board of supervisors to reconsider its Humble Oil decision, or submit the matter to the voters.

Supervisors have twice refused to accept a petition, signed by over 12,500 voters, requesting a referendum vote on the refinery permit.

The big juicy bone of the week should go to a Dalmatian in the Mission Tract. Recently, this dog barked so loudly that she wakened her owner. Loud reprimands just wouldn't make her stop. Finally, her mistress went to deal, physically, with the matter and found that a grass fire was raging on the vacant lot next to her home. The Dalmatian had been trying to alert her mistress to the danger. Thanks to the dog, firemen arrived to put out the blaze before any fences or houses were involved. I'd tell you the name of this heroine, only being a pine nut I can't spell her name, but it means "spotted" in some European tongue and sounds a good deal like "flecked."

In response to a phone caller's request for information about the Laguna Seca road races, I spent considerable time one day last week looking for the publicity releases, checking schedules, entrances, exits, etc. The lady's final question was about the probable time the last race would be over on Sunday. After I offered my guesstimate, she thanked me graciously and added, "You see, my friend wants to come down from San Francisco to see me but doesn't want to get caught in all that traffic, so I'll tell her to wait until next weekend."

Claudia Street is a true Republican but she does believe in sharing the good green stuff. At the Mission fiesta she won a door prize—a crate of artichokes. Last week many of her friends were recipients of some of her wealth. The day before she won her prize she had invested in a box of artichokes and so had a surplus commodity to distribute to less fortunate families. But her gifts, unlike foreign aid, were truly appreciated.

This week's rhyming observation on Europe from Dorothy von Meier, traveling chairman of the city's planning commission, features Italy.

Turin's a mad-house of noisy clamor
Of speeding Fiats and fashion glamour.
Taking the road from the valley of the Po
We came down to Savena, then San Remo.
All around the hills of olives and grapes
Steel cranes are throwing up skeletal shapes
Of glass and brick apartmentos
For families of technicians and meccanicos.
With washing adrape on balcony rails
Tenement or new hi-rise, it never fails.
While a necklace of umbrellas and cabanas blue
Rings the Riviera and blots out the view.

The seven days starting next Monday will be National Cleaner Air Week. Have you written a letter giving your opinion on the Moss Landing oil refinery to Michael A. Haider, President, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City, New York 10020? Humble Oil and Refining Company is a subsidiary of the company Mr. Haider heads. Letters should be sent by certified mail, then senders get notification when their communications are received by the person to whom they are addressed.

The space age and the age of chivalry are to have more in common than anyone ever expected. Latest proposal for astronauts' garb is metal suits similar to those in which medieval knights clanked around the world.

The latest ingenious excuse for being late to school, offered this week by a notorious young dawdler, was "I was waiting for the comet."

Don't ask me what it means but Tuesday night, in the Carmel Art Association Gallery, I spied one of those metal standards which say,

NO PARKING BETWEEN SIGNS
By Order Of The Police Department

Bold black script in one corner announced "Sold . . . $300."

Could this be the "pop" art I've been hearing about?

Reserve Officers Association Dance

The Monterey Peninsula chapter, Reserve Officers Association, will hold its Fall dinner dance at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School on Saturday evening. All officers of any branch of the armed forces will be welcomed.

"The bar in the Stern room will open at 7:00 o'clock for a chance to greet friends before dinner at 8:00," said Major Daniel L. Coleman, president of the chapter, "This is to be a fun night with no business, so only music and dancing will follow the dinner," he added.

The ladies of ROAL will have containers at the door to collect items to be donated to the veterans hospital at Palo Alto. Each year decorations and prizes are neded for parties and the patients make most unusual creations from such unlikely items as tin can lids, old jewelry and macaroni!

A new ROA chapter has been formed in Santa Cruz County. The charter meeting was held last Tuesday evening. Helping give the new chapter a proper sendoff were Colonel and Mrs. Roland L. Brandley and Colonel and Mrs. Willard W. Shope of Pebble Beach; Colonel and Mrs. Garry J. Anloff Jr. of Carmel; and Major and Mrs. Daniel L. Coleman of Carmel Valley.

Born in New York, this artist studied with Yasue Kuniyoshi, Jean Liberte, and Arnold Blanch at the Art Students League before coming to California in 1951. Ever since he has been enamored of this state's shores and beaches; mountains, lakes and forests. He is one of those rare artists who is a dreamer and a poet but nevertheless works hard at his paining.

The Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts is asking all persons who paint, sculpture, carve, sew, work in wood or clay, beads or bangles, feathers or glass, or any other media, to contribute creations to this year's AFA Christmas Creations Show which is scheduled for December 7, 8 and 9 at the Mark Thomas Inn.

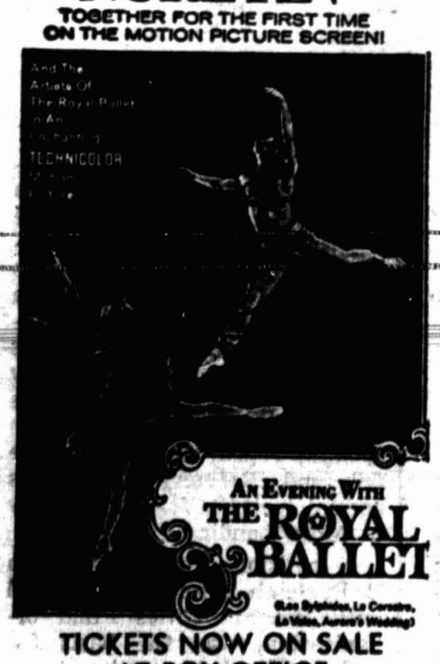

The AFA will be happy to pick up and store any finished creation until the show. All creations will be donations to raise funds for the AFA and will be sold during the show. Ribbons will be given to award winners in all categories.

'Incomparable Switzerland' Last In Travel Film Series

The final Explorerama-Carmel program will be presented at 8:00 p.m. on October 29 at Sunset auditorium.

"Incomparable Switzerland," a prize winning film, will be narrated in person by explorer Earl Brink. The feature-length film has stereophonic musical backgrounds and recently won first prize at the Geneva Travel Festival. Highlights include the Matterhorn, Devil's Bridge, the Castle of Chillon, Zurich, Lake Lucerne, Geneva, the village of Iserables, where women carry babies in "head cradles," skiing in the Alps, and unexcelled scenery.

This is Mr. Brink's tenth complete and different film dealing with Switzerland. He has traveled there every year since 1948.

Tickets at $1.50 will be available at the door or in advance from Central Box Office, Sixth and Dolores. The program is presented as a community service by the Explorers Club of San Francisco with proceeds to be used for their science scholarship fund.

MPC Free Film

"The Big Deal on Madonna Street," a film spoof of crime described as "funnier than anything bottled in Bond," will be screened at Monterey Peninsula College tomorrow.

Two showings are scheduled in the MPC Music Hall—at 7 and 9 p.m.

The second offering in the MPC's fall film series, "Big Deal" was directed by Mario Monicelli in Italy in 1960. Starring Marcello Mastroianni, Claudia Cardinale, Vittorio Gassman and Toto, it tells the story of a safe heist by a group of butterfingers who can't synchronize their watches because nobody owns a watch.

Program Of Philippine Folk Songs And Dances

On Saturday evening, a group of dancers from the Philippine Islands will perform at Sunset auditorium. The Saniata Ti Amianan Dance Troupe is composed of adventurous boys and girls who have come all the way from the Northern Philippines, home of the courageous, industrious and patient Ilocano, to awaken their countrymen in the United States to a realization of a rich cultural heritage of which they may be proud.

Beyond and above this, by their repertoire of folk dances and folksongs of the different regions of the Philippines, they hope to promote better understanding between the people of the United States and their homeland.

Since their arrival in this country, the Saniata Ti Amianan group has performed to record crowds in many cities in many states. In each community, Filipino organizations have housed and feted the visitors as well as promoted and sponsored the show which includes some 30 authentic songs and dances built around three themes—occupations and industries; courtship and merry-making; weddings. Stage settings will be typical: costumes colorful and unique.

Lillian Scott

Private funeral services have been held in the Mission Mortuary for Mrs. Lillian Gertrude Scott, who died Friday evening at her Carmel Valley home after a period of failing health.

A local resident for the past 17 years, she was born in Chicago, Illinois, December 23, 1910.

Mrs. Scott leaves her husband, Clyde W. Scott of Carmel Valley.

Inurnment took place in the I.O.O.F. Columbarium in San Francisco. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Robinson

Funeral services were held in Hanford Monday afternoon for Mrs. Tempie Anne Robinson, who died in a local hospital Saturday following a brief illness. A native of Alabama, she was born on January 6, 1882.

Mrs. Robinson and her husband, the late Cridner R. Robinson, moved to Carmel 17 years ago from Hanford, where she was city librarian for more than 30 years until she retired in 1948.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Milo L. Tally of Sacramento and Mrs. John A. Houston of Galesburg, Illinois. A son, Army Captain Beverly C. Robinson, was killed in action in Attu, Alaska, during World War II.

Burial took place in the Hanford Cemetery. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

Dr. Kirwan

Requiem mass was celebrated yesterday morning at Carmel Mission Basilica for Dr. Ernest William O'Gorman Kirwan (Lieutenant Colonel CIE ret.), internationally renowned member of the medical profession whose contributions, particularly in the field of opthamology, were exceptional. Dr. Kirwan's death, on Sunday, was attributed to a heart attack which he suffered at his home on Franciscan Way.

Born in Dublin, Ireland, on May 18, 1887, he was educated at Belvedere College and graduated with honors from Dublin University in 1909. From 1910 until 1914, as a member of the Indian Medical Service, he served as medical officer of Predeyn's Horse cavalry regiment. For four years during World War I, Dr. Kirwan served with the British Army in France, Belgium and Mesopotamia, later conducting research in Vienna. After returning to India, he established dispensaries which have aided millions in the prevention of blindness.

Following 17 years as professor of opthamology at the Calcutta Medical School, he moved to London, where he engaged in private practice and held the posts of professor of opthamology in the Tropical School of Medicine and as honorary professor at London University.

Upon his retirement in 1956, Dr. Kirwan and his wife, Mary, came to Carmel to make their home.

The eminent doctor, whose numerous papers have been published in major medical journals, was honored with the Jubilee Medal in 1935 and the Coronation Medal in 1937. He was a member of the Oriental Club, Hurlingham, the Bengal Club of Calcutta and the Old Capital Club of Monterey.

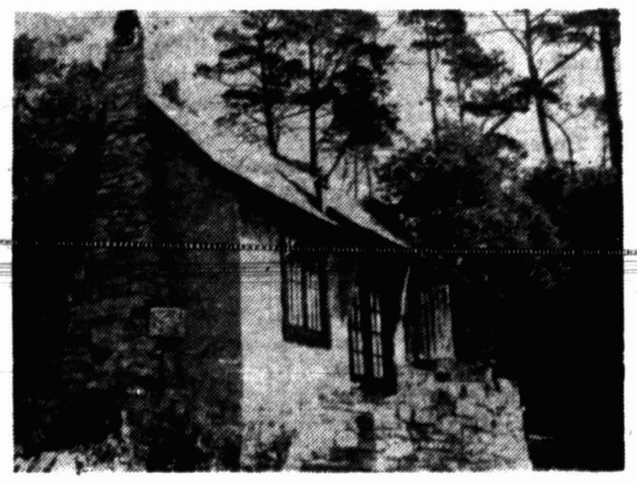

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Dr. Ernest O'Gorman Kirwan of London and Peter T. Kirwan of Menlo Park.

Burial took place in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma, under the direction of the Mission Mortuary.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Dr. Kirwan may do so in the form of spiritual bouquets, or by donations to the Visiting Nurse Association, 512 Pierce Street, Monterey.

Indications were, from his phone call to Mrs. Woolsey Sunday night, that the reunion was a smashing success, and she enjoyed the long-distance chats with a number of Bill's old buddies—until she suddenly remembered her husband had called collect.

Humor Is Handy

According to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Shanner, their son, PFC Bill Shanner, is one GI with a saving sense of humor. Since July he has crossed both the Atlantic and the Pacific twice, been transferred from one ship to another in mid-ocean, slept on top of a refrigerator and is convinced that SNAFU is not a fictional term. Last heard from in Corpus Christi, Bill's only concern is that his laundry can't catch up with him. He hopes that if and when it does, there also may be a promotion trying to find him.

He graduated from St. Mary's High School in Salt Lake City and attended the University of Utah. Last week, Wayne completed his basic Army administration course and, his parents hope, will remain on assignment at the fort.

Studying In Mexico

In beginning his studies this month at the University of the Americas in Mexico City, William Coleman is achieving a long-felt ambition held by many young people today who realize that the meaning of education is augmented by an acquaintance with a culture different from one's own. Bill's use of the Spanish language, perfected this summer at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, will continue not only in his classes, but also through his association with Spanish-speaking classmates and in daily living in a Mexican home.

Although the entire scholastic program is set against the background of living abroad and observing customs of another country, the university follows the same academic system as American institutions and draws the largest number of U.S. students of any school located outside the country.

A 1961 graduate of Carmel High School, Bill is the son of Mrs. Louise Coleman of Carmel. He attended the University of Colorado and Foothill College in Los Altos and is majoring in Latin American history.

Bill's twin sister, Betsey, who also graduated from Carmel High, is now Mrs. Alvin Hurst of Santa Clara.

Movies Of Greece Shown

Mrs. Harvey Russell entertained at her home on Santa Lucia Avenue on Friday evening. Mrs. George B. Turner showed movies along with recordings made of her travels through Greece. Among highlights were the village of Kavella, where the church of Phillipi was established by the Apostle Paul; and the remote village of Pella, the birthplace of Alexander the Great.

Also shown were a guided tour of Athens with stops before the summer palace; a guided tour of the Acropolis and the Market Place where Socrates and Plato talked with other scholars; viewing the Aeropagus or Mars Hill from which Apostle Paul spoke to the Athenians; the ruins and village of Delphi; and a visit in the home of a foreign student coming to Monterey Peninsula College from the remote village of Aracheva.

City Hall Bereft

Carmel City Hall won't be the same without Karla Poff, who is resigning at the end of the month to move across the country for her forthcoming marriage to Captain George N. Allerton (USMC). The ceremony will take place in the Marine Corps post chapel at New River, North Carolina, on November 20, just a year to the day after Karla and George met here at the wedding of mutual friends.

Karla is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Poff of Whitesboro, Texas, and the sister of John W. Poff of Managua, Nicaragua. She graduated from Ouachita College, Arkansas, and was a junior high school English teacher in Texas before coming to the Peninsula. Karla, who has also been an instructor at the Pacific Grove Adult School, plans to return to the teaching profession after her marriage.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Allerton of Somerset, New Jersey, who will attend the wedding. His brother, Donald Allerton of New Jersey, will serve as his best man. George completed his education in Virginia and was a graduate student, last year, at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey.

Until such time as the Marine officer is reassigned for duty, the couple will make their home in New River.

Jurists Were Entertained

Lawyers and justices from all over the state gathered here last weekend for a conference whose main theme was "Further Education of the Bar."

Among those entertaining for the jurists and their wives were Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, who opened their hospitable home for a cocktail party on Saturday evening.

Michael David McGibney, 21-year-old aeronautics major at San Jose State College, will seek to extend his aviation training as a naval aviation cadet, assigned to pre-flight training at the navy's huge school in Pensacola, Florida, commencing next September. He was sworn in by Captain Jim B. Bock (right), commanding officer of Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, NAS, Alameda, Mike, who has nursed a lifelong dream to fly, stated that he entered the navy's aviation training program because "it has the best pre-flight and flight program of any of the military services in my opinion." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Wright of Carmel and was one of the Pine Cone's star salesmen during his grade school days.

The Dixons Brought News

After a month in Scott's Valley near Santa Cruz, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dixon have returned with the news that they have a first great-grandchild. Grace Elaine Avila is her name, and she is the daughter of Winona and John Avila of Maryland (Winona Lodge in Carmel, formerly owned by the Dixons, was named for their granddaughter).

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon were "house-sitting" the new Scott's Valley home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopper, while the Hoppers traveled to Maryland to see their daughter and her new baby.

The Schedule Was Full

Family get-togethers, parties with old friends, and lots of tennis were on the calendar for Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman (Ann Whitman) during their ten days at the John Gardiner Tennis Ranch in Carmel Valley. Ann's brother and sister-in-law, the Colden Whitmans, with an able assist from her other brother, Paul Whitman Jr., kept things going at top speed for the visitors while they were here.

The Chapmans, who stopped to take a pack trip in the Rockies enroute from Illinois to California, left yesterday to return to their home in the Cleveland suburb of Aurora. They were accompanied by Ann's mother, Mrs. Paul Whitman of Pebble Beach, who plans to remain with them for a month or so and catch up on the activities of the Chapmans' five young sons.

Double Event for Alliance

On October 31, the Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula will have a brunch at the Carmel Valley Inn in honor of the Swiss Consul General, Jean Studer, and the Swiss dramatic artists Monsieur and Madame Jean-Bart, who will present a literary and theatrical recital at the Tantamount Theater at 2:30 p.m. the same afternoon.

With half the Alliance membership residing in Carmel, it is natural that reservations already made include many local names. Heading the list is Mrs. Jerome Carlson, president of the Alliance for the past four years, and Mr. Carlson. Mrs. Carlson will introduce her successor, Jean Corbat, who assumes his new office November 1. Others are Mr. and Mrs. David C. Pitfield, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Merivale, Dr. and Mrs. Bruno Adriani, Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, Dr. and Mrs. Peter Mutke, Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Ferro, Mrs. Phyllis Jervey, Mr. and Mrs. August Armanasco, Mrs. Germaine Olivier, Mrs. Joanne Nix and Mrs. Lila Smith.

The French-speaking artists from Geneva, Switzerland, are touring the country for the third year presenting works of French literature and scenes from the French classical theater.

Information on the afternoon program at the Tantamount or the 12:30 p.m. brunch at Carmel Valley Inn may be obtained by phoning Mrs. David Pitfield (624-9485) or Mrs. James Hathaway (372-1138).

Coffee will be served at the theater during intermission. Hostesses for this part of the program are Mrs. Tanya Treutle and W. Gibb Hatch, who will be assisted by students of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

The Beatons Were Here

The Matthew Beatons, Carmelites who spend most of their time in the foothills of the Sierra and are now living in Mokelumne Hill, were in Carmel last week to see friends and to allow artist Elise Beaton to pick up some of her framed paintings for an exhibit at the Wells Fargo Bank in Jackson. This is the former Amador County Bank of the lovely old Mother Lode town.

Mrs. Beaton, a former French and history instructor at Monterey and Carmel High schools, attributed her becoming tan to the fact that she has been working outdoors trying to catch in watercolor the seasonal blaze of the aspen groves, particularly magnificent this year, before winter blankets the mountains.

G.O.P. Tea

At a tea honoring all Carmel G.O.P. members on October 12 at the Community Room of the Rancho Shopping Center, Karl Christierson, chairman of the Monterey County Republican Central Committee, reported on the Republican State Central Convention held recently in San Francisco.

No, it was not a "put-up job" that Mr. Christierson held the lucky ticket entitling the winner to a free pass to the county committee's fund-raising $50 dinner to be held October 28 at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club—someone had to remind him to fish out his stubs when the winning number was drawn and announced.

Emily Is The Fifth

At least Community Hospital administrator Thomas Tonkin didn't have to go far to see his wife and inspect their new daughter, Emily August, who was born at the hospital on October 10. At the Tonkins' Carmel home, Emily joins her sisters, Jane, ten; Martha, eight; Sheila, six; and her brother Andrew, five.

Emily's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Elden Tonkin of Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Karstadt of Pacific Palisades.

Senator Murphy To Speak

U. S. Senator George Murphy will be the honored guest speaker at the $50-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner to be held October 28 at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Murphy was elected to the Senate last November after an exciting contest. He defeated former presidential press secretary, Senator Pierre Salinger.

The dinner is sponsored by the Monterey County Republican Central Committee and tickets may be obtained by telephoning any central committee member at Republican headquarters (424-6045).

Carl Bensberg Returns

Carl Bensberg, always an observant traveler, returned from his summer in England and Europe with an impressive collection of memories as well as films to share with his friends. This year, his sister, Mrs. Mary L. McCormick of Santa Clara, accompanied him. They enjoyed particularly the six weeks they spent in the Cotswolds in England, where they made their base at a charming small village, taking daily trips around the countryside.

Vienna, where Mr. Bensberg has usually stayed for a good deal of the summer on his previous trips, was only a brief stop this time, although he attended a fine performance of "Die Miestersinger" at the Vienna Opera.

A high point of his trip was his visit in Augsburg, Germany, with his adopted son, Helmut, who is stationed there with the U.S. Army.

Mr. Bensberg found the exhibits at Check Point Charlie, the grim barrier between East and West Berlin, to be startling, especially the display of methods used by escapees from the East. The Americans, with ironical humor, have erected a large board, plainly visible to the opposite side, indicating the current number of police who have fled from the East zone—3,400 at the time he was there.

The tour of East Berlin, Mr. Bensberg said, was disappointing because the bus only rushed here and there, with but one stop—the Soviet War Memorial, situated in a park which was deserted except for tourists.

Newcomer Welcomed

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kaller of the Galerie de Tours have added a precious new addition to their collection. Cameron Ann is her name, and she made her debut at Community Hospital on September 30. At the Kallers' home, Cameron is the object of much attention from her brother, James Lance, aged ten, and her sister, Candace, who is eight.

First For Dan Holmans

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Holman are happy first-time parents of a baby girl, Dina Lori, who was born October 11 at Community Hospital.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Arthur Holman of Carmel and the late Arthur Holman, and of Mrs. Kenneth Mason of Orland and the late Mr. Mason.

The Lodmells Visited

With only two days to see their many local friends, Colonel E. A. Lodmell (USA ret.) and Mrs. Lodmell remarked that they regretted not having planned more time in Carmel before returning to Greensboro, North Carolina, on Monday.

The Lodmells first came here in 1940, when the doctor was stationed at Fort Ord with the U.S. Army Medical Corps and Mrs. Lodmell and their children, Mary and John, remained to live in Carmel during World War II.

John, now married, with three children, is a captain in the medical corps and is serving in Korea. Mary, whose husband is a psychologist and teacher, also has three children, and is now living in the East.

Unlike many residents, interestingly enough, the Lodmells said they found that Carmel really hadn't changed very much in the years since they lived here.

American Field Service Chapter Hopes To Reinstate International Student Exchange At Carmel High

High hopes of finding a home and raising funds necessary to bring a foreign student to Carmel High School for a year, under the American Field Service International exchange program, are being entertained by the Carmel AFS chapter headed by Mrs. Richard Sippel.

Letters have been sent to local civic groups asking for donations towards the chapter's financial goal. This week, other letters are being sent to parents of each Carmel High School student asking if they are interested in having a foreign student live in their home during the 1966-67 school year.

Early in 1966, the Carmel AFS chapter hopes to have in its treasury the necessary $750 to bring a student from another country here, also an interested family in which to place the visitor.

After a foreign student has been at Carmel High, the local AFS chapter will be eligible to submit applications for the Americans Abroad program of the American Field Service. Under this program, a Carmel High student is given the opportunity to live with a family in a foreign country. However, competition for this program is keen and the fact that a foreign student attends Carmel High does not automatically mean that local students will be sent abroad.

The AFS student exchange program was in effect at Carmel High until 1959. Students from Germany, Austria and Norway came here and nine Carmel High students went abroad. Mrs. Sippel (Pat Ricketts) was one of these and stayed with a family in Germany in 1954.

Helping her to reinstate the AFS program, as members of the Carmel chapter, are Mrs. Gordon Clemens, chapter secretary; Mrs. Frank Faulkner, treasurer; Mrs. John Hicks, home chairman; Mrs. Gardner Schetter, Americans Abroad chairman; Mrs. Phyllis Calley, projects chairman; Mrs. Hugh Bayless and Mrs. Harold Snow, publicity. Carmel High School Principal Warren Edwards, is an ex-officio member of the chapter.

The AFS exchange program was abandoned at Carmel High School after Jennie Hill went to Norway in 1959. It died because, in the fall of 1958, a student from England was sent to live with a family in the East because the local family which was to have had him live with them, because of illness, was unable to keep him here. It had been dificult to find a suitable home for a foreign student during the 1958-59 school year. This difficulty was the basic reason that the AFS program was discontinued.

Mrs. Sippel, also other members of the present AFS committee, hope interest can be aroused again in the student exchange program. She reports that enthusiastic interest in the project is demonstrated by the Carmel High School student body.

"Walk together, talk together, O ye peoples of the earth; then and only then shall ye have peace." is the motto of the American Field Service International scholarships organization, administered from a central office in New York City through the cooperation of local chapters such as the present one in Carmel.

Since its inception in 1947, the AFS program has brought 19,076 teen-agers to the United States and sent 10,624 American high school students abroad, all 16 to 18 years of age, open-minded and eager to learn, ready to spread word of their experiences, work towards understanding and peace between nations.

John Logan Attends Cleaning Conference

John Logan, plant manager for Del Monte Cleaners, Launderers, Furriers, was invited to participate in and is attending the International Conference of Cleaners being held for five days at Point Clear, Alabama. Meetings are held at the picturesque Grand Hotel, a land mark of the Old South near beautiful Mobile Bay.

The conference consists of representatives of not more than 20 drycleaning plants or organizations. This informal group of noncompetitive cleaners assemble annually for the purpose of liberally exchanging ideas and discussing the problems common to the industry. The principals attending actively participate in evaluating each member's presentation and contribution to the general betterment of the industry.

Del Monte Cleaners, Launderers, Furriers was the only drycleaning organization invited from California. This year firms outside the continental United States invited to participate in the conference are located in London, Oxford, Melbourne and Rotterdam.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

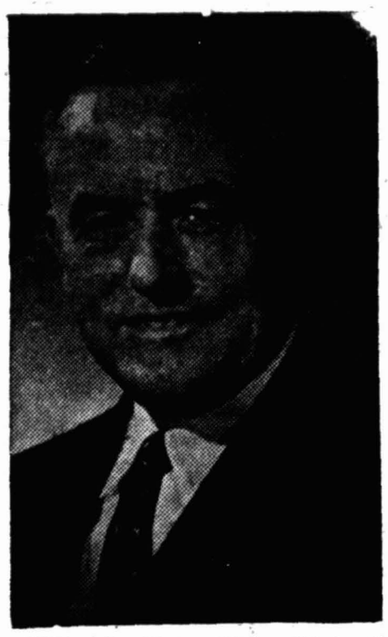

"If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

These words of Paul to the Corinthians will be the Golden Text for a Bible Lesson on how spiritual renewal leads men to the discovery of their real identity and eternal being. The thought is brought out in these lines from the Christian Science textbook: "Being is holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the physical and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 492). Sunday's subject is "Probation After Death."

HIGH TWELVE LUNCHEON

A world traveler, Clifford Blanchard, will be the narrator for a program of his slides showing India, Iran and Bangkok at the luncheon of the Carmel High Twelve Club on Monday at the Cypress Club, Lincoln between Seventh and Eighth. All regular Masons are invited to attend.

"Who Is Your Maker?" is the title of a public lecture coming here Saturday evening under Christian Science auspices. Herbert E. Rieke, C.S.B., of Indianapolis will speak in the Christian Science church on Monte Verde near Sixth Avenue at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Rieke is a graduate of Northwestern University. He served during World War II as an Army Air Corps chaplain in India, North Africa, and Italy, receiving a bronze star for distinguished service. An authorized teacher of Christian Science, Mr. Rieke is a member of the church's Board of Lectureship.

His lecture is presented to the public under the sponsorship of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel. It is free, and everyone is invited to attend.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S FALL PROGRAM

On Tuesday, the Monterey Bay Republican Women's Club will open its fall season with two special programs and a luncheon at The Outrigger on Cannery Row.

From 9:45 a.m. to noon, the symposium on "Positive Republican Action" will present Lieutenant Colonel Burchard Johnson (USA ret.), whose subjects will be "Urban Renewal — Boon or Boondagle" and "Metro Government—Panacea or Poison," each talk to be followed by a discussion period. A former councilman of Pacific Grove and member of the Monterey Peninsula Area Planning Commission, Colonel Johnson is active in work to restrict the power of the federal government at the local level.

At the luncheon meeting, from noon to 2 p.m., the symposium will present a resume on the entire program on "Positive Republican Action" which has been held monthly for the last eight months. A panel of 12 chairmen will speak on such subjects as immigration, Medicare, the United Nations, arms control and disarmament agency, education in a free society, the role of the church in politics, Keynes of Harvard and our monetary system.

The public is invited to attend the programs free of charge; the luncheon is $2.75. For reservations or further information, phone 372-8447 or 375-4955.

Carmel High School Journalism Class Publishes Newspaper

Volume One, Number One of a newspaper, The Sandpiper, was circulated at Carmel High School last week. Writing, make-up, photography, advertising sales and publication were undertaken by the school's journalism class under the direction of their instructor, Walter Le Valley.

The first issue of the paper was dedicated "to a former classmate and never to be forgotten friend, Nancy Farr." Nancy died following a horseback riding accident in Colombia this summer. She was the younger daughter of State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel and a member of the Class of 1966 before she enrolled at Santa Catalina School for Girls.

In an editorial, the purpose of The Sandpiper is stated. It is to "not only reach the student body, but the parents and community as well."

Intended to be the "voice" of Carmel High School, the newspaper will offer students opportunities to be heard on subjects that need discussion: give faculty and administration a chance to reach the students, parents and community in an informal manner. In addition, The Sandpiper "is concerned with entertaining and informing its publisher: the student body of Carmel High School."

Allan McEwen and Larry Little took the photographs which are reproduced in The Sandpiper's first issue.

The paper was named after a small indigenous bird of this section of the California coast which skitters along beaches probing in the sand for its food and, therefore, can be considered analogous with the activities and aims of the new high school publication.

City Seeks Tool For Restoring War Memorial

Restoration of the damaged portions of Carmel's World War I memorial is being delayed because of the inability to discover the type of stone mason's tools used when it was constructed.

The memorial arch, situated at the intersection of Ocean Avenue and San Carlos Street, was designed by a Carmel resident, Charles Sumner Greene, famed American architect. He supervised the talented artisan who carried out his design matching hand-cut and chiseled stones on each side of the arch. The tool used for this work is no longer manufactured. Carmel's superintendent of public works, William L. Askew Jr., is appealing to any person who might have such a tool, or who could make one, to come to the aid of the city.

ESALEN INSTITUTE

The Esalen Institute, situated at Big Sur Hot Springs, is now accepting applications for a nine-month educational experiment which will begin in September, 1966. The "experiment," which will include a group of 20 people of various educational backgrounds, vocations and ages, will have a curriculum consisting of methods which have been devised by behavioral scientists in different parts of the world. The institute will encourage participants from such fields as architecture, the ministry, education, business and the arts.

Among some of the individuals who will take part in this residential program are the senior editor of Look magazine, George Leonard; Frank Barron, research psychologist of the University of California; William Schutz, psychologist at the Albert Einstein Clinic, Yeshiva University, New York; Payton Jordan, Olympic track coach of Stanford University; and Minor White, photographer and editor of Aperture magazine.

Esalen Institute is governed by a three-man board—Michael Murphy, Richard Price and William Quinn—all of Big Sur. It was established two years ago as a nonprofit educational institution and is registered under California law as a charitable trust. In establishing Esalen, the directors said, "It is not our wish to found a 'school of thought' but rather we want a center where laymen and scholars can explore converging trends of modern thought which emphasize the potentialities of human existence. We believe that the natural setting of the coastal area surrounded as it is by the sea, mountains, redwood and cypress groves and unique mineral hot springs, is the perfectly situated place to carry out such discussions."

Other Esalen groups are at Ojai and La Jolla.

PALO COLORADO SCHOOL

Palo Colorado School, the picturesque one-room school, situated mid-way between Carmel and Big Sur has one of its largest attendances in recent years—24 students in grades one through six. Principal-teacher Mrs. Nancy Bottero tells us that a number of the girls and boys are new this year to the school and to the area of Palo Colorado. Newcomers are Pat and John Vargas, Carey Crockett, Kent Hopkins, Jeff Alexander, Kim Baker, Joli Levins, Julie and Steve Fend, Mary Hazel, and David, Peggy and Bob Keith.

In addition to their regular school classes, the members of the student body are devoting portions of their noon and recess periods towards preparation for the school's third annual Christmas Fair which will be held in early December. The older girls are learning to knit and are already working on pieces of wearing apparel for the fair.

The idea for the fair (which offers visitors, parents, and friends of the school an abundant array of uniquely fashioned items) came about because of a desire on the part of the school children to help themselves. They wanted books for their library, so they went to work to make items, sell them, and thus raise the money to purchase books. The months of planning, countless hours of willing and joyful labor that went into the preparation and the extraordinary number of useful and beautiful articles that were assembled for the past two fairs, were rewarded in a wonderfully tangible way. A good sum of money was received with which to purchase desired and needed books. It is hoped that this year's Christmas Fair will be equally successful.

Fonteyn And Nureyev Stars Of Coming Royal Ballet Film

"An Evening With the Royal Ballet," starring Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolph Nureyev, will be presented on the Peninsula with an exclusive two-day reserved performance engagement at the State Theatre, Monterey, on November 4.

The color film features four ballet highlights—"La Valse," "Les Sylphides," "Le Corsaire," and "Aurora's Wedding" from "The Sleeping Beauty." The performances were filmed at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, London.

Advance tickets for "An Evening With the Royal Ballet" are now on sale at the State Theatre box office.

In addition to handling individual ticket orders, for the reserved performances, the theatre will handle special arrangements for group sales. An evening and a matinee performance is scheduled for each of the two days. Mrs. William Loomis is in charge of the group sales.

'Puss In Boots' Is Children's Play At White Oaks Theatre

Dilemmas arising from a cat's desire for a pair of red boots make up the action of "Puss In Boots," White Oaks Theatre's offering for children during Sunday matinee performances, at 2:30 p.m., October 24 through December 12. The Fantasy Players are also booking touring engagements for shows for schools and children's groups throughout central California.

Dramatics instructor Shirley Eoff is directing company members of the White Oaks Theatre Training Center who are cast in a variety of roles ranging from the eager-to-please Puss himself (Karin Gjording) to the evil Enchanter (Don Richard). Rounding out the cast are Puss' master Christophe (George Shea), the lovely Princess Angelique (Chris Flynn), her absent-minded father the King (Ron Stark), and the madcap Lise (Linda Boblitt).

All company members are presently involved in acting, voice, dance and dramatic theory classes at the theatre in Carmel Valley where their training is applied to the children's works as well as Friday and Saturday night adult productions.

CHURCHWOMEN BEGIN NEW PROGRAM

The Churchwomen of All Saints' Episcopal Church have planned a program for the year with the title of "The Local Community and Our Relationship to It," which will present the viewpoints of a Christian and a non-Christian religion and, finally, a panel discussion. On Tuesday, the Reverend Shawshew Sakow, minister of the Buddhist Temple of Salinas and the Monterey Peninsula, spoke on the view of a non-Christian religion following the Churchwomen's luncheon.

There's a good answer!

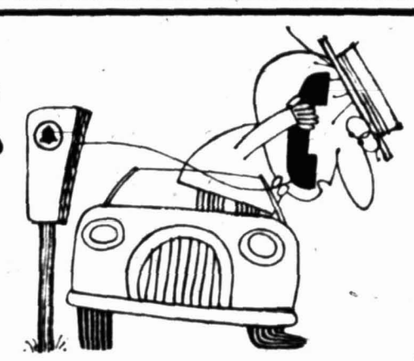

No matter what the problem — or how vexing the situation — there's always a good answer. And it's basically spiritual. Often it depends on how we answer the question "Who Is Your Maker?" Hear a public lecture on this subject by HERBERT E. RIEKE, C.S.B., of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Everyone is welcome.

WHAT'S DOING?

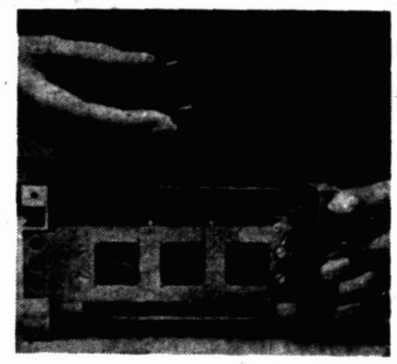

How do you string telephone wire under a customer's house when the space between ground and floor is only 18 inches? It was the customer's pet beagle to the rescue! After tying the wire to the dog's collar, the customer went to the other side of the house as the telephone man put Buster in the small opening. At the sound of "Here, Buster," the beagle, dragging the wire behind him, scooted through to his master—and the job was done!

Memories are made of this . . . electronic memories anyway. This brain cell provides "memory" for a new telephone switching system which someday will make it possible for you to set up conference calls yourself, use abbreviated numbers for calls you make often and to have your incoming calls transferred to another number. Improvement of your service is our chief concern. And improvement means change . . . in equipment and techniques. Every change is aimed at giving you better phone service at reasonable cost.

No Cause for Alarm

Pacific Telephone was on hand with a message center to assist the conventioners of the 43rd annual California State Fireman's Association. The convention was held September 27th through the 30th and approximately 1100 firemen and guests attended, representing all of California. On the program were: MEMORIAL SERVICES, BUSINESS MEETINGS, BBQ picnic, and a ball. Highlighting the convention was a gala two hour parade. Some of the participants in the parade were Mayors, CSFA officials, Military units from the area, Civic Groups, and a multitude of fire departments and varied types of firefighting vehicles.

Needless to say with all the congenial firemen in the area, there was NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

AGAINST NEW LIGHTS

Editor
Carmel Pine Cone

I received my Pine Cone today and decided to sit right down and write my views concerning the "warm lighting" to be installed in the business area. Carmel's unique charm is in the fact that that it is rustic and has not been subjected to too much extensive modernization. The installation of street lights (call it warm lighting or anything you want) to me is an unnecessary addition to the city and will certainly detract from the charm of the village. If Carmel has police problems then more policemen should be added to the force. Your big cities are well lighted and it is a known fact that they are the areas of the higher crime rates. To me, this street lighting program is just one more step toward ugly modernization and once the step is taken there is no retracting it.

I heartily agree with Mr. Carvel Baldwin that this lighting is not what the citizens of Carmel want. Why not leave the lighting as it is.

Although not a resident of Carmel (yet) I have been going there in the summers for many years and am now a property owner there with the intention of moving to Carmel in the future.

Yours very truly,
W. F. Whitaker
Riverside, California

She Is Mrs. Hutchinson

At home in Monterey, after a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, are Lieutenant and Mrs. George Allister Hutchinson, the former Kathleen Diane Carr of Carmel, whose marriage took place on October 2 at the Church of the Wayfarer. The Reverend Lawrence K. Whitfield read the afternoon service which was followed by a reception at Pine Inn.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Carr of Turlock, were here for the wedding, as were also the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hutchinson of Oak Park, Illinois.

Mrs. David C. Bradley of Fresno was Kathleen's only attendant.

The bridegroom chose a fellow officer, Lieutenant Mike Broderick, for his best man, and Michael E. Carr of Turlock seated the guests.

Lieutenant Hutchinson is stationed at Fort Ord.

Help Wanted: Guide

Waldo and Karen Hicks are planning to give one another bloodhounds for Christmas, so that they won't get lost the next time they try to find someone in the maze of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta. The Hickses spent a wonderful nomadic month this summer in the Sierra with a travel-wagon, proceeding according to their whims from one side of the range to the other, from lake to lake, river to river.

It was their decision, homeward bound, to look up a cousin of Waldo's that got them hopelessly (and hysterically, reports Karen) floundering around the levees. Intuition, or desperation, made Waldo try one last back road, where they ended up at another waterway and, whaddayaknow, the barge ferry man just happened to know the cousin and led them right to the front door. Nevertheless, they're still not sure they'll ever find it again.

First Audubon Wildlife Film Tuesday Night In Pacific Grove

"Nature's Plans and Puzzles" is the title of the Audubon Wildlife Film which will be presented on Tuesday evening in Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium.

Little more than a century ago, the Indian ruled the Canadian province of British Columbia, the setting for this film. Much of the Indian's world remains today in this area. Nature's wonders will be explored in the full color motion picture showing scenery varying from dense coastal forests through desert regions to alpine heights.

The form of plants in relationship to environment will give the audience an opportunity to see colorful and unusual flora. Dramatic close-ups will demonstrate the adaptability of birds to their surroundings. Animals, insects, reptiles and amphibians will also be featured.

C. P. Chess Lyons will narrate the film. A naturalist and photographer, he has known British Columbia since childhood. He has a degree in forest engineering from the University of British Columbia and has worked with the parks division of the British Columbia Forest Service. He has written books on the province he knows so well and is a frequent contributor to newspapers and magazines.

Mr. Lyons also has had wide experience in conservation. Many of British Columbia's parks were first examined by him, their boundaries set and development plans prepared. He now freelances in photography and television on outdoor themes.

"Nature's Plans and Puzzles" will be presented under the auspices of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society and the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History in collaboration with the National Audubon Society. Single admission price is $1. Season tickets for five wildlife films cost $4. They may be obtained at the Pacific Grove Museum or at the door on the night of presentation. Students are admitted for the season for $2 and to single showings for 50 cents.

State Highway Projects For Monterey County

Today, the California Highway Commission budgeted $651,919,655 for state highway construction purposes. In line with increased emphasis on aesthetics and highway beautification, funds for landscaping and tree plantings along various freeway routes were increased from last year's $6,299,000 to $9,259,000 this year.

Projects approved in Monterey County include four-lane freeway development of Highway One from the south city limit of Monterey to Fort Ord with seven interchanges; cost $10 million of which $2.6 million will be budgeted next year.

Another project is construction of a four-lane freeway to bypass King City with a wider bridge over the Salinas River; cost $4.2 million of which $1.7 million will be in the budget of the 1967-68 fiscal year.

The sum of $105,000 is included in the highway commission budget this year for tree and other planting along Highway 101 for 3.3 miles south of Salinas.

PG&E energy was a bargain 30 years ago...

but PG&E rates are even lower today!

Your PG&E bill is bigger than it used to be because you're using more light, more heat and more appliances. PG&E rates, however, have gone down. The same amount of gas and electricity costs less today than it did in 1935. PG&E energy is still your biggest household bargain.

County Symphony Concert Tuesday Rated Momentous Musical Event

BY JACK BENSON

Sunset auditorium was packed last Tuesday evening, and the stage bulged with over 80 musicians. It was the opening concert by the Monterey County Symphony, now celebrating its 20th anniversary. The occasion was auspicious; under the direction of John Gosling it became a momentous musical event, as well. Judging by this first concert, the Monterey County Symphony's 20th anniversary may be, in retrospect, its finest season.

Maestro Gosling has ferreted out every good musician in the county, it seems, ranging in age from teen-ager to senior citizen, and hailing from every quarter—teachers, merchants, housewives, students, soldiers, bankers, lawyers, doctors, etc. and one young man who rides a motorbike and holds out his viola as a turn-signal. He typifies I think, the wonderful spirit of devotion and enthusiasm which the orchestra radiates this year, an orchestra that John Gosling has been nurturing for several years.

Those who have witnessed the gradual and, at times, difficult growth of the Monterey County Symphony were immediately struck, Tuesday evening, by its rousing, full-bodied performance of Rossini's overture to La Gazza Ladra (The Thieving Magpie). Directly evident was that there were no weak sections in this orchestra, a perennial malady of most community orchestras.

A string section of very high quality was revealed next in Kent Kennan's Night Soliloquy, a gorgeous work for flute and strings composed by this Eastman graduate in 1936. The soloist was Raymond Fabrizio, principal flutist with the Monterey County Symphony for several years and a distinguished West Coast musician who has concertized widely. His performance was both moving and immaculate.

Another work by an American composer rounded out the first half of the program, Corinthians: XIII, opus 82, by Paul Creston. Based, of course, on the titled text, and cast in three uninterrupted sections ending with a Gregorian chant (Salva Regina), this was a recent (1963) example of Creston's fervent, ponderous, thickly inspired writing which the orchestra, under Gosling, performed with intense and sweeping devotion, and for which they received a standing ovation.

Brahms' Symphony No. 1 in C Minor comprised the balance of Tuesday's program, and any trepidation one may have had earlier about such an undertaking by now had changed to keen anticipation.

Gosling and his hardy band already had traversed some strenuous terrain, beginning with a sportive ride through Rossini, then stealthily into the mysterious Night Soliloquy they crept, averting next the morass of a Biblical jungle. And now the mountain stood before them. But their eager ascent was beautifully planned and executed, with very few slips, and many heroic deeds along the way, such as those performed on oboe and French horn and violin. The only accident to occur was about 24 feet from the top where the tympani and violas give an extra kick, twice, all by themselves. In jazz it's called a "boot."

But it didn't happen, either time, and I missed the exhilaration of it.

Inspecting Mine

Ray and Judy Ramsay are accompanying Bob and Lili Smith this weekend for an inspection of the Smiths' "mine" in a rugged section of the Sierra in Plumas County, where the Ramsays are negotiating for a bit of wilderness. Bob organized the expedition for the ostensible purpose of locking the door of the cabin on the property before winter closes in — a pretty thin excuse, says Lili, considering there is no glass in the window frames.

Altar Society Events

The Altar Society of the Carmel Mission Basilica met October 14 in Crespi Hall, with Mrs. Kenneth White presiding, for a business session and a talk by Dr. Keith White, assistant research ecologist of the Hastings Natural History Reservation. Dr. White presented an interesting account of how seeds embedded in the adobe bricks of the old missions help to disclose the nature of plants which existed in their vicinities at the time of construction.

Hostesses for the tea following the meeting, at which three new members were welcomed, were Mrs. R. B. Stoney, Mrs. Roman Neumann, Mrs. Marjorie Hollingsworth and Mrs. Joseph McCloskey.

At the society's September meeting, artist Geza St. Galy spoke on the comparison of the past and present day forms of religious art, showing slides to illustrate his talk.

Mrs. Alvin J. Fererra will be the guest speaker at the November 11 meeting in Crespi Hall.

Members of the Altar Society are to receive Holy Communion together at the 8 a.m. mass on November 7.

SEMINAR ON FOREIGN POLICY IN CARMEL VALLEY

A series of experts in politics, foreign policy and religion will be here this weekend to address a seminar on "Can Moral Man Make Foreign Policy?"

Meeting at the Carmel Valley Inn under the auspices of the Council on Religion and International Affairs, 30 community leaders will hear talks, starting today, by Philip Klutznick, U.S. representative to the U.N. economic and social council (1961-62); state department official Frederick Wyle; disarmament expert Robert Kranich; Professor Albert Rasmussen of the Pacific School of Religion; Seth Tillman of the Senate foreign relations committee; RAND Corporation senior staff member Herbert Dinerstein; and James Finn, editor and author.

THE FOLLOWING ARE AS BRIGHT AND CHEERY AS THE FINEST INDIAN SUMMER DAY

(And not an expensive one on the list)

CARMEL:

1. For less than $25,000 a miniature "salt-box" remodeled especially for the artistic soul. (One only, not big enough for more). An extra studio, too, in which to finish that mystery story or novel.
2. Remember when people went "upstairs to bed"? A nice custom, wasn't it? This cleverly remodeled number boasts a winding stairway to one big bedroom and one little one. Not many of these in Carmel for less than $30,000.
3. And, not many like this one for less than $35,000, so here is a REAL FIND that is as fresh as the crisp new dotted swiss curtains in the kitchen. Three bedrooms (one with outside entrance), two baths, 22 ft. living room, closets galore and the sunniest kitchen overlooking pretty patio. Rustic setting but only three blocks to I. Magnins!

MONTEREY:

Sparkling new, midway between Monterey and Salinas on knoll with view of the wide-wide world. Three bedrooms, all carpeted. On a full acre with many nice oaks. Priced below $30,000 to allow margin for new owner to landscape.

PACIFIC GROVE:

Another never-lived-in house offered at sacrifice price by owners who have left area. For less than $40,000 a masterpiece of craftsmanship on half-acre with glorious redwoods, pines and oaks. Near Asilomar Beach. (This, too, has a studio for the artist, writer or guest).

Sand Castle Contest Set For Sunday

through the sand.

The tide will recede in the late morning. Contestants should be on the beach to register at noon. Judging will start at 2 p.m. so that all sand castles may be evaluated before the tide turns in the late afternoon.

There will be a definite beach area, marked by flags, near the foot of Thirteenth Avenue, in which to compete. Last year, while surveying 200 entries stretched the length of the beach north to Ocean Avenue, judges suffered shin splints and near exhaustion from unaccustomed exercise. This year they will be carefully coddled, Don Brown emphasizes. This may or may not affect their acuity but at least they won't limp around town for a week afterwards.

There will be 15 senior prizes, "whatever that may mean," Don Brown observes. A total of 25 junior prizes wil be awarded and he seems to be vague about where the judges will draw this line, too.

And then there will be the grand prize. Last year this was won by a group of teen-agers who constructed a detailed sand replica of Mont St. Michel and went home happily sporting clamshells on a string as their most honored reward.

"The Great Sand Castle Contest is just an opportunity for all Carmelites to have fun while enjoying a day on the beach," Don Brown declares. If it rains on Sunday, the contest will be postponed until the tides are just right again. Fog will absolutely not affect the holding of the event except for hampering the dozens of photographers who always record the Great Sand Castle contest for posterity and publications. They are advised to pack along some flash bulbs, anyway. The pop of these adds to the general happy confusion.

And why are dogs not allowed to gambol free as usual on the beach? Anyone who has seen small children after a boxer, in seconds, has destroyed their day-long sand castle building project knows the answer.

But there will be a few uninvited dogs. There always are. This is Carmel.

Editor's Column . . .

erialists scorn, the originality of a community where young and old gather one day each year to dig and pile sand on a beach which citizens own and have preserved, forever, from commerciality—and do not seek publicity. Many will come to look at this phenomenon.

But to most of them, the character of Carmel, that ephemeral quality symbolized by the Great Sand Castle Contest, will be beyond conception. Those who do conceive what it is Carmelites cherish will eventually become dedicated Carmelites, too.

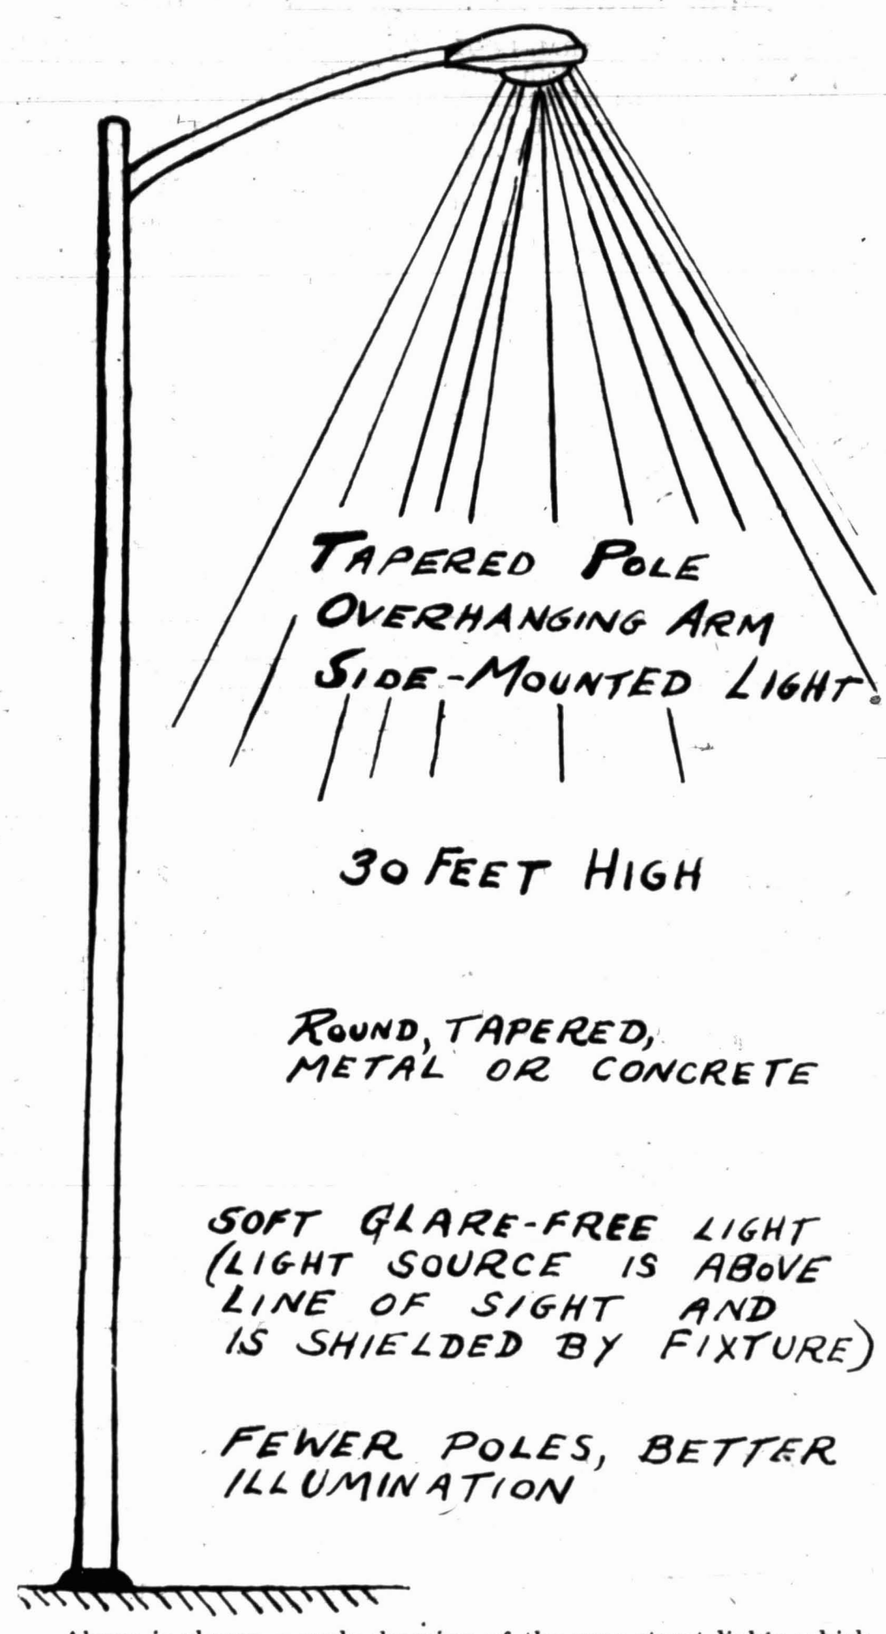

So Carmel has grown! So may Carmel always grow! And a happy day to all Carmelites on the beach on Sunday. M.L.

CROSBY STUDENT LOAN FUND AT MPC

Monterey Peninsula College received a check for $2,500 this week from the Bing Crosby Youth Fund.

The money, which will establish the Bing Crosby Student Loan Fund at MPC, is the local college's share of $61,000 awarded to 26 colleges and universities from proceeds of the 1965 Crosby national pro-am golf championship on the Monterey Peninsula.

The fund will be administered by Mrs. Marjorie Marshall, MPC director of student services.

Above is shown a scale drawing of the new street lights which will be installed on Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues. They will be placed 120 feet apart on alternate sides of the street. Sidewalk areas for trees and other landscaping will be at the base of the poles. This planting is planned to screen the poles.

The 6,000 candlepower luminescent round lights will shed illumination downwards only. This type of light was chosen by the city council as providing necessary illumination, without glare, and as being less obtrusive than another type of lighting on shorter standards which sheds light sideways into the line of sight.

The new lights are being installed as the first unit of the underground wiring service which will extend, eventually, throughout the business district. This project will eliminate, over a period of 20 years, all unsightly utility poles in the commercial district.

Planners Approve New Parking Law

Yesterday afternoon, planning commissioners recommended to the city council adoption of the new off-street parking ordinance. This law will require off-street parking for owner and employees of all businesses in newly constructed premises in the commercial zone. It will also require simlar parking provision for all remodelling exceeding 50 percent of a building area, also major additions.

If this off-street parking cannot be provided on a site, an "in-lieu" tax must be paid to the city for parking on municipal lots.

The commission was informed by Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.) that the Carmel Citizens Committee signboard at the corner of Dolores and Ocean will be removed.

Arts commission reports on the new theatre development at the southwest corner of Dolores and Seventh, also additions to the Vasconcellos shop and motel complex at Junipero and Third were received. The planning commission, at a previous meeting, had acted on these matters so the arts commission reports were received too late to be considered.

Plans for a laundromat at Junipero and Fourth and a parking lot on Junipero between Fifth and Sixth were studied. These were referred to the commission's design review board for report next week. Following this, action will be taken on the two matters.

Planners See Scale Model Of Proposed Civic Center

the council chambers structure thus giving commissioners a concept of the total development.

He had been asked by the council to show that the proposed new police station and public works and corporation yard structures, the initial development authorized by the council, would in no way prevent integration of this construction with other facilities should they ever be developed.

By placing in position scale models of the city hall and council chambers structures, Mr. Burde demonstrated that these developments would be completely integrated into a total landscaped plaza concept with underground parking.

Main entrance to the plaza was shown as a flight of wide steps leading off Junipero Street. Entrances to parking areas were off both Junipero and Torres streets.

Structures are planned to have a variation of gambrel, shingled roofs. The city hall and council chamber units have glass wall areas to take advantage of the unobstructed views to the south from the site. All structures will be integrated into the total development by covered walkways serving also to enclose the central landscaped courtyard.

Yesterday afternoon, planning commissioners voted to purchase a glass display case so that the scale model of the civic center development may be displayed at city hall for citizens to see.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

MPC LECTURE IN SEASIDE TOMORROW

"Race and Humanity" will be the topic on which Dr. Ashley Montagu, noted anthropologist-author, will lecture in the Monterey Peninsula College "Roots of Prejudice" series tomorrow at 8 p.m., in the Seaside High School auditorium.

Dr. Montagu has published more than 20 books on various aspects of anthropology and race, one of which, "The Natural Superiority of Women," touched off a storm of good natured controversy when it hit the best-seller list in 1953.

HOSPITAL TO BENEFIT FROM MPVS THRIFT SHOP

Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services Thrift Shop will donate net profits for the month of November to the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula.

Community Hospital auxiliary members will assist MPVS members in securing, marking, sorting and selling merchandise at the shop at 785 Broadway, Seaside. Under the direction of Mrs. J. Manfred Crane, auxiliary chairman for the project, those in charge of providing a staff of auxiliary members for the above purposes are Mrs. Luella Jackson, Mrs. Rollo Payne, Mrs. Merrill Passey, and Mrs. John Howard.

BURGLARS NET $500

According to the Monterey County Sheriff's office, investigation is continuing of the burglary at the Carmel Rancho Pharmacy which early yesterday resulted in a loss of approximately $500 from a cash drawer. An intory check indicated that no narcotics had been stolen by the thief, or thieves, who gained entry by breaking the glass in the front doors.
